

Local

In May 1998 the company presented Local at Tramway. This production was the culmination of eleven workshop sessions with a variety of young people drawn from all over Glasgow. It dealt with the participants' relationships with the city through their aspirations and fears for the future. Local involved projected video footage acted and produced by the participants in collaboration with Castlemilk Video Workshop.

When you've left ...

When you've gone to America to become a millionaire ...

When your band's gone platinum in Japan ...

When the back page of The Record is devoted to your exploits in Barcelona ...

When you've met someone from Greece and just decided to stay ...

When you find yourself washed up on a beach in Shetland ...

When you're somewhere far away ...

What will you tell people about where you came from?

Will you remember?

Will you want to go back?

Will you take the old bus route?

Will you see your mates?

Will they remember you?

Will you remember them?
